Saxophone Journal started out as a newsletter in 1973 named SAXOPHONE SHEET. The newsletter contained both products for sale and several articles per issue. Early contributing writers included Kenneth Radnofsky, Paul Evoskevich, Harry Gee, Jack Snavelly, Paul Harvey, Chris Vadala, and Dennis Bamber. In late 1980 the SAXOPHONE SHEET newsletter changed it’s name to Saxophone Journal.

Out of print back issues of Saxophone Journal are available as xeroxed copies and include all of the editorial content but not necessarily all of the ads. For newer Saxophone Journals with CDs inquire via email on webpage about CD availability.
